

Patient Billing

Your doctor has ordered the PrismRA blood test from Scipher Medicine[®] to help identify the best medication for your rheumatoid arthritis.

We are committed to making testing more accessible and affordable.

PrismRA Helps Find the Best Treatment Plan for You

If your RA is flaring up and you're feeling unwell, your doctor may suggest starting or escalating your dose of a medication called TNF inhibitor therapy. With this drug class, as well as other available medications, it can be hard to know which one is best for you.

Based on the PrismRA results, your provider may find starting a new medicine or modifying your current dose gives you the best chance of getting your RA under control.

Patient-Friendly Billing Policy

- Scipher is committed to never surprise bill any patient
- The majority of patients tested pay less than $75
- If we estimate your out-of-pocket expense to be greater than $75, we will reach out to you directly to discuss prior to performing your testing

Only a Scipher Bill is Your Out-of-Pocket Expense

You will receive an Explanation of Benefits (EOB) from your insurance plan after Scipher submits a claim for PrismRA testing. Please note this is NOT a bill, but rather a notice of how your claim has processed. Only an invoice with the Scipher Medicine logo is a bill.

If your insurance claim is denied, with your consent, our team will work directly with your insurance provider and physician to try and obtain coverage while minimizing any financial burden. Scipher also offers a Financial Assistance Program for eligible patients and interest free payment plans to help you get access to our testing at the most reasonable and affordable rates possible.

Call Scipher if You Receive a Check

If Scipher is not contracted with your insurance plan, you may receive a check for our services. If so, please call Scipher so that we may coordinate next steps with you. We will help you transfer the check and have your account properly credited.
